Assistant Professor Employment Contract

This Employment Contract ("Agreement") is made and entered into on this 1st day of August, 2025, by and between:

Law University of Khulna, a private university duly incorporated under the laws of Bangladesh, having its principal office at A/39 KDA Majid Memorial, Sonadanga, Khulna.

AND,

Priya Sadhu, residing at Hazi Bari Mor, Nirala, Khulna (hereinafter referred to as the "Assistant Professor" or "Employee").

Date of issue: October 8, 2025

1. Salary Benchmarking

According to the final decision, an assistant professor will receive a total salary of 72000 per month for the first year of his/her service, and it will be calculated for the second year based on the increment of the base salary.

The salary structure is as follows for the first year:

Salary Type	Calculation (From Basic)	Amount (TK)
Basic Salary	Foundation Amount	40,000
House Rental	50% of Basic	20,000
Medical	10% of Basic	4,000
Travel	10% of Basic	4,000
Communication	5% of Basic	2,000
Subscription	5% of Basic	2,000
Gross Salary (Total)	(Sum of all above)	72,000

Other Benefits:

- Every year there is a 5% increment of the basic salary based on performance. (Explained in details in “Annual Salary increment” Section)
- Employees will get two festival bonuses per year, which will be equivalent to their basic salary at that time. (Explained in details in “Bonuses” Section)
- The employee has the opportunity to participate in the Provident Fund, Gratuity, and Research Fund.
- Teachers will receive the prescribed salary even during sick or maternity leave, but it will be dependent on the discretion of the university and medical evidence.
- The annual salary increment will be ceased once the employee’s basic salary reaches the maximum of this scale. For an assistant professor, the ceiling for basic salary is 70,000 tk. Once the employee reaches that maximum scale, the further annual increment will cease. Further salary growth beyond this ceiling depends upon the promotion to a higher academic rank, which has a new pay scale with a higher salary ceiling

The offered salary is benchmarked against the current market rate for the specific role, industry, and required experience level in Bangladesh.

2. Legal Status of the Employee

According to the Bangladesh Labour Act, 2006, the employee will be considered a non-worker.

- The professor will be an employee of the university and must follow all rules, policies, and regulations of the institution. The professor will work under the direction of the head of department and other university authorities.
- The professor's job will start as a full-time position on a contract basis. After the successful completion of the probation period, the job may be made permanent according to the university's decision and policy.
- During the job period, the professor must maintain good behavior, honesty, and professionalism in all duties related to teaching, research, and student guidance.

3. Job description:

The employee is appointed as an assistant professor in the law department. The primary duties of the employee include, but are not limited to, the following responsibilities:

- The employee has to prepare and deliver lectures, tutorials, and practical classes assigned by the department head. A standard teaching load will be approximately 12 credit hours per semester.
- The employee has to develop and update the course materials, outlines, and curriculum. They must align with the standards of the University Grants Commission (UGC) of Bangladesh.

- The employee has to take the assessment fairly in time.
- He has to provide academic guidance and counseling to students.
- He has to actively engage in research, publish scholarly articles in reputable journals, and participate in academic conferences.
- He has to participate in departmental and university committees and also the official meetings.
- He has to perform any other duties that are reasonably assigned by the department head.

4. Duties

According to the university service rules and academic regulations:

- The teacher will conduct lectures, tutorials, and practical classes regularly.
- He/she will be engaged in academic research and publish scholarly articles or books.
- He/she will prepare question papers, evaluate answer scripts, and guide students.
- He/she will supervise students' research projects, assessments, theses, or dissertations.
- He/she participates in departmental meetings, committees, and other assigned academic or administrative responsibilities.
- He/she maintains academic integrity, follows the university code of conduct, and avoids political activities during working hours.

5. Place of Work

Usually, the campus or department of the university is the main working place for a teacher. A teacher may also be temporarily engaged in another campus, research center, or affiliated institution by university authority. Any change of his workplace must be officially approved and communicated in writing.

6. Working hours

Below are the normal teaching loads per semester in credit hours:

Designation	Credit Hours
Lecturer	12-15
Assistant Professor	9-12
Associate professor	6-9
Professor	6 (sometimes less)

Since he has been appointed as an Assistant Professor, his assigned credit hours range from a minimum of 9 to a maximum of 12 Hours.

7. Prohibitory period

At the start of the job, the Professor will be on a probationary period for six months. This time is given to see if the Professor's work and behavior meet the University's expectations.

During this period, the University will watch the Professor's performance and attitude. If everything goes well, the job will be confirmed after the six months.

But if the work is not found satisfactory, the University can end the job during this time by giving proper notice. The Professor can also leave the job during this period by giving written notice to the University.

8. Requirement for Teaching qualification

The qualifications for appointment of teachers have been prescribed as per the Private University Act, 2010 (Section 39).

Designation Minimum Qualifications:

Title	Minimum Qualification
Lecturer	Master's Degree with good Academic results.
Assistant Professor	Master's Degree and at least 3 years of teaching or research experience, or PhD.
Associate Professor	Professor with a PhD Degree and published quality research papers.

This appointment and promotion have been made as per the UGC approved or registered policy.

Since the post here is Assistant Professor, his minimum qualification is Master's degree and 3 years of teaching/research experience, and he has attained this qualification.

9. Provident Fund and Research Fund Policy

9.1. Provident Fund

Teachers can contribute 10 % of their monthly salary to the Provident Fund. The University will also contribute an equal amount of 10%.

The Teachers will be eligible to withdraw money from the fund if they have been in service for at least 5 years. For example: medical treatment, house construction, a child's higher education, or retirement.

Written application and approval from the Account and Registrar Department will be required for withdrawal. Fund management is supervised by the University Finance Committee. It is approved or registered by UGC.

9.2. Research Fund

Every year the university allocates a certain portion of its budget to the Research Fund. Teachers can get grants or money from this fund if they meet the following conditions:

- The research topic must be approved by the university's academic committee.
- The teacher must hold the position of at least Assistant Professor.
- Must have a previous research publication or conference presentation.

A teacher can get a maximum grant of 50,000 to 100,000 per year (depending on the subject and budget). To receive the money, the teacher must submit a Research Proposal, Budget Sheet, and Recommendation Letter to the authority. Submission of research reports and financial statements is mandatory at the end of the project.

This policy has been approved or registered as per the University's Research Policy.

10. Annual Salary increment:

The Employee will be eligible for an annual increment in their salary after completing a full year of continuous service with the university.

The increment will not be automatic; it will be decided by the satisfactory performance evaluated by both the Head of the Department and student voting.

The evaluation will be based on teaching effectiveness, research contributions, administrative duties, and student satisfaction.

A standard increment for satisfactory performance is 5% of the employee's then-current basic salary.

For example, as the first-year basic salary is 40,000 tk, the increment for the second year will be 2,000 tk, making the second-year basic salary 42,000 tk. The calculation for the increment for the third year would then be calculated based on the 42,000 tk salary. The process will continue.

11. Bonuses:

The Employee will get two festival bonuses in a year.

Each bonus will be equivalent to one month's basic salary at that time, and those bonuses will be paid before the religious festivals (Eid-ul-Fitr and Eid-ul-Adha). Employees of other faiths will receive their bonuses before the two major annual festivals of their respective religions.

For example, as the first-year basic salary is 40,000 tk, the employee will get 40,000 tk before each festival of this year, which means he will get 80,000 tk for festivals in his first year. And it will be 42,000 tk for the 2nd year if the base salary is 42,000 tk, which means he will get a total of 84,000 tk as a bonus in the 2nd year.

An employee will be eligible for the full bonus if he is in continuous employment with the university for at least six months prior to the festival date.

If the employee's performance is overwhelmingly satisfied both by the students and the administration, the university will give a performance award bonus but this bonus is not guaranteed and will be at the sole discretion of the university's management.

12. Leave Entitlement

University teachers enjoy various leave benefits under service rules and the Bangladesh Labour Act, 2006 (Chapter IX).

- Usually, the annual leave will be 20 days per year for a teacher.
- The casual leave will be 10-15 days per calendar year. It is for urgent personal reasons like illness and family matters.
- The sick leave will be 14 days with full pay, or it will be more if approved by medical certificate.
- It will be 6 months (180 days) with full pay, and it can be taken before or after childbirth.
- The paternity leave will be 10-15 days with full pay.
- It is granted up to 3 months with pay for adopting a child.
- will be up to 2 years with or without pay after a certain period of service, for example 5 years, for research or higher study abroad.
- National holidays are applicable such as Independence Day, Victory Day, Eid, Puja holidays, etc.

13. Exclusivity of Service

A full-time university teacher is not allowed to take another full-time job or business at the time when employed at the university.

Private tuition or consultancy will be allowed only when prior written permission from the Vice-Chancellor is given

The teacher must devote himself to full-time work in university duties and must maintain academic integrity.

14. Confidentiality:

The Professor acknowledges that they may have access to confidential, proprietary, or sensitive information belonging to the University or its stakeholders. This includes, but is not limited to, some more confidential objects; for example, student records, examination materials, research data, internal reports, financial information, policies, and any other information that is not publicly available.

The Professor agrees to maintain the confidentiality of such information and not to disclose, share, reproduce, or use it for personal good or for the benefit of any third party during and after the term of employment, without any written permission from the University.

This obligation will be effective even if the employment is terminated or expires. However, this does not prevent the Professor from disclosing information that is required to be disclosed by law.

The Professor also agrees to take responsibility to keep all confidential information safe, whether in written, digital, or verbal form, and to return all provided confidential materials at the end of employment or at the request of the University.

If it is found out that the Professor has breached the confidentiality obligation, the University reserves the right to take appropriate legal action. Such actions may include suspension, termination of employment, and/or a claim for damages resulting from the breach.

The Professor will be liable to compensate the University for any direct financial loss, reputational damage, or other harm arising from the negligence, unauthorized disclosure, or misuse of confidential information.

15. Intellectual Property

All lecture materials, course outlines, assessments, research papers, or any other creative or academic work done by the employee during the employment period and by using the resources of the university would be considered as official property of the university and the employee mutually.

16. Copyright

All the creative and intellectual work done by the employee during his employment period and by using the resources of the university shall be the joint property of the employee and the university.

Both the parties shall have the right to use, publish, reproduce, and distribute such works for academic or commercial purposes.

17. Termination and registration notice period:

The University reserves the right to terminate this contract at any time. To terminate the contract, the university will give you 3 months prior notice or instead will give you 3 months of basic salary in case of immediate termination. The university may terminate this contract without both the 3 months prior notice and any payment in case of gross misconduct, including but not limited to dishonesty, theft, breach of confidentiality, insubordination, or any action that damages the university's reputation.

To terminate the contract by resigning from their position, the employee has to give 3 months' prior written resignation letter to the university. The notice period will be counted from the date the written resignation letter is officially received by the Head of the Department and the Human Resources Department. If you fail to provide prior notice, it may result in the cancellation of the employee's final month's salary payment, but it is subject to the university's discretion.

18. Grievance Resolution Procedure:

If the Professor has a complaint or concern, they should first try to solve it informally by talking with their Head of Department or Supervisor. If the issue cannot be settled that way, the Professor may submit a written complaint to the Human Resources Department or Grievance Committee.

The University will review the matter fairly and confidentially, giving both sides a chance to explain their views. A written decision will be given as soon as possible. If the Professor is not satisfied with the outcome, they may appeal to the Vice-Chancellor or another higher authority, whose decision will be final.

19. Interpretation

This clause defines how particular terms, intellectual contributions, and confidential matters shall be interpreted under this Agreement.

For the purposes of this Agreement, the term refers to Law University of Khulna, and "Assistant Professor" or "Employee" refers to the undersigned staff member engaged under this employment contract.

Any intellectual property, including but not limited to research papers, course materials, software, inventions, and creative works produced during the tenure of employment, shall be governed by the Copyright Act, 2000 (Bangladesh), and the University's internal intellectual property policies.

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, all academic materials, inventions, or research outputs created within the scope of employment or using University resources shall remain the property of the University.

In case of any ambiguity or dispute regarding the interpretation of this Agreement, the matter shall be resolved in accordance with the Bangladesh Labour Act, 2006 and the Private University Act, 2010.

20. Return of the property

Ensures that all University property is returned upon termination, resignation, or retirement.

Upon termination, resignation, or expiration of this Agreement, the Employee will immediately return all University property, including but not limited to ID cards, laptops, electronic devices, research data, official documents, and access credentials.

The Employee will not retain, copy, or distribute any confidential materials or data after the cessation of employment.

The University reserves the right to deduct the value of any unreturned or damaged property from the Employee's final settlement.

A clearance certificate must be obtained from the respective departments before the release of the final payment.
